Threat Detection:

Advanced threat detection – our solution identifies thousands of viruses and malware attack variants including cryptomining attacks and isolates any active threats or suspicious activity to minimize damage.

Response and Remediation

If you are subject to a cyber-attack, once the threat is neutralized, ARCO forensic software immediately starts analyzing the malicious event, performs a root cause analysis, quickly minimizes damage from the attack, and remediates and recover as quickly as possible. If you were hit with a ransomware attack, we can rollback files to their last safe version.

Customizable Security Packages & Deployment Options

Let ARCO Group work with you to deploy the right security solution for your business. We offer three customizable security packages:

Profile and Protect: Leverage pre-existing security profiles that map to specific cyber threat categories. Working together we will define security strategies tailored to your needs that focus on ransomware protection, threat detections services for phishing attempts, malware identification and more.

Detect and Respond for Endpoints: Powered by Sentinel one, a leader in intelligent cybersecurity software, this solution uses innovated software to rapidly identify and halt the most sophisticated cyber-attacks. Then using forensics and intelligent automation, it identifies the root cause and threat origin, reversing and remediating malicious operations.

Detect and Respond for Networks and Compliance: This solution leverages industry leading SIEM technology to collect, analyze and correlate information from network devices, endpoint logs and threat intelligence feeds. This data is used to identify security incidents, policy violations, fraudulent activity and other threats to your network. Once an issue has been identified, the SOC quickly mitigates the attack and provides advanced remediation documentation and provides you with next steps to recover quickly.
